Dear Contributor:

Thank you for contributing to the PROCEEDINGS OF THE 9TH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON FOUNDATIONS OF COMPUTER-AIDED PROCESS DESIGN/FOCAPD-19, JULY 14 - 18, 2019 (the "Proceedings") edited by Dr. Salvador García Muñoz, Dr. Carl D. Laird, Professor Matthew J. Realff (the "Editor") herein referred to as "the Organizer," included in the series entitled Computer Aided Chemical Engineering. This Agreement between you and Elsevier B.V. regarding your contribution entitled below outlines our respective obligations and rights.

PLEASE PROVIDE US WITH THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION

Contribution entitled:

Corresponding author:

A. You agree that your contribution is of the agreed upon length, (max 2700 words in length including figures and references, equivalent to 6 printed pages, with a printed page comprising 450 words of text or 2 figures or 20 references), containing the content and substance, as instructed by the Editor. You will keep one complete copy of the contribution toward against loss.

Please note that colour illustrations will appear in grey scale in the print version and will be reproduced in colour in the electronic version only. If you are submitting colour illustrations, please also provide a grey scale version for the print version of the Proceedings.

B. To facilitate publication of your contribution, you assign to us the copyright and all other rights in and to the contribution, except for patent and trademark rights and rights to any process or procedure described in the contribution. This assignment of rights means that you have given us the exclusive right to publish and reproduce the contribution, or any part of the contribution, in print and all other forms of media, in any edition, revision, or other form, in all languages, throughout the world, and the right to license others to do the same. We may list your name and affiliation for credit, promotional and advertising purposes associated with your contribution in such manner which, in our judgment, fairly reflects your contribution. We may, but we are under no obligation but are under no obligation to request your participation in any subsequent editions of the Proceedings, and we may use all or any of your contribution in any such revision and or editions or in any manner or form without additional compensation other than expressly provided in this Agreement.

C. As the author of your contribution you may publish a summary of the contribution on your personal or your institution's website and may make copies of the contribution for your classroom use. You also retain the right to draw upon the information and materials contained in the contribution for your continued professional and educational use, such as for classroom and meeting lectures and in the preparation of journal articles or book chapters. We do, however, require that in all cases you appropriately cite the Proceedings and the Publisher as the copyright holder of the contribution.

D. You confirm that your contribution is original to you, has not been previously published, and you have the right to grant to us the rights described above; you confirm that your contribution does not contain any material that infringes any third party rights or is harmful to the user. You also confirm that to the best of your knowledge your contribution contains no libelous, unlawful or otherwise actionable matter. Further, you also confirm that you are familiar with all applicable conflicts of interest and outside compensation laws and regulations as well as policies and rules of the your employer or institution (if applicable), and that your acceptance of this appointment and the terms of this Agreement and your performance under this Agreement is and will be in compliance with those laws, regulations, policies and rules.

E. Should any materials in the contribution be the work of others, said materials must be properly credited, and you agree to obtain and pay for any necessary grant of permission for use of others' materials, as well as any patient consents and releases.

F. If we decide not to proceed with publication of your contribution, we will revert all rights to you. We reserve the right to revise the contribution if required to render it suitable for publication, including the substitution of borrowed material.

Please mark one or more of the boxes (as appropriate) and then sign below to indicate your agreement with the terms of this letter and return one copy to us on submission of your contribution.
